THIRTY-SIXTH ANNUAL REPORT
OF THE
OF THE
SCHOOL FOR THE BLIND, HALIFAX, N. S.

Introduction. The Board of Managers in submitting the Thirty-Sixth Annual Report of the School for the Blind acknowledge with gratitude their indebtedness to a kind providence for the many blessings of the past year. Your Board feel confident that the members of the corporation, the Provincial Governments and Legislatures interested, and the many friends of the blind, will be pleased to hear of the continued success which attends the work of the Institution.

Superintendent's Report. The Superintendent's Report deals more particularly with the several departments of the school, with the needs of the institution and with the work that has so far been accomplished. It is a source of satisfaction to your Board to realize that the blind of the Maritime Provinces and Newfoundland have within their reach such excellent educational advantages, and to know that the scope of these advantages is ever widening.

The work performed by the teachers in the several departments merits the highest commendation, and your Board desire to express their appreciation of the zeal and ability evinced by the members of the teaching staff in the discharge of their responsible duties.

Your Board are in full sympathy with the wish of the Superintendent to increase the educational opportunities of the school so as to open up new lines of occupation to its graduates. They heartily endorse the effort that is now being made to provide the school with a modern pipe organ, and believe that this effort will meet with the support of those interested in the welfare of the blind.

The Superintendent's report should be carefully read by those who are interested in the success of the school and in the well-being of the boys and girls who are striving to overcome the handicap of blindness.

Domestic Department. A well organized domestic department is essential to the well-being and comfort of institution life. It is therefore, gratifying to report that the domestic management of this large household is carried on smoothly, efficiently and economically. All housekeepers are familiar with the daily round of duties which require attention in order that the good management of an ordinary household may be assured.. When it is realized that this household is equivalent to thirty-five average families, it will the better be understood how necessary it is to have the work thoroughly systematized throughout. The systematizing of the work is accomplished by having four distinct departments, which are respectively controlled by the boys' matron, the girls' matron, the matron of the juniors, and the housekeeper. These officials work independently of each other and are directly responsible to the Superintendent.

Financial Report. For the past few years your Board have been obliged to observe the most rigid economy in all matters pertaining to the school. The increase in the cost of living, due to the advanced prices of provisions, fuel, light, wages, etc., made a corresponding increase in the cost of the maintenance of the household. Ten years ago the average annual cost per pupil was $167.00, and at that time your Board were receiving from the respective provincial governments and municipalities, $150.00 per pupil, which, with the interest upon bequests, was sufficient to meet the current outlay. Three years ago the average annual cost per pupil advanced to $200.00, and your Board realized that unless an increased amount was received from the provinces interested, yearly deficits on current account would have to be faced or the efficiency of the school greatly diminished. In April, 1905, action was taken by the Government and Legislature of Nova Scotia to increase the grant per pupil from $150.00 to $180.00 per annum, which has this year been followed by similar action upon the part of the Governments and Legislatures of New Brunswick and Newfoundland. Our application to the Government and Legislature of Prince Edward Island for an increased grant, has, up to the present time, met with no response.

Exhibition Visitors. During the Dominion Exhibition held in Halifax in September last, three thousand five hundred persons visited the school and inspected the work that is being carried on in the several departments. To many of these visitors the work of educating the blind was entirely new, and the impression made upon them by what they heard and saw was one of surprise and gratification. The following extract from a letter received from a clergyman in New Brunswick, is typical of the impression made upon the minds of those who visit this school:—"Mr. F., who was in Halifax at Exhibition time, was through your school and attended one of the concerts. He says he never saw anything like it, although he has been through many of the public institutions in the States. He also said that he would gladly have gone to the expense of the trip just to attend the concert and see through the school. This is how your work impresses the public." Your Board recognize that the standing of this institution and the success of its graduates are largely dependent upon the public interest in the welfare of the blind, hence every opportunity is taken to familiarize all classes of people with the school and with the objects it seeks to accomplish. Among the Exhibition visitors were many from the Western Provinces of Canada, and it is hoped their visit may result in awakening an interest in the education of the blind of that portion of our Dominion.

Gratifying Testimonials. Many testimonials have been received, or have appeared in the public press, as to the practical character of the work being done in this school, and your Board are happy in the knowledge that the trust committed to their hands is being administered so as to win general approval. In this connection the opinions of two well-known superintendents of education may be quoted. Dr. Inch, Chief Superintendent of Education for the Province of New Brunswick, says in his last annual report:—"I regard the School for the Blind at Halifax as one of the best institutions of the kind on the continent of America." Dr. Mackay, Chief Superintendent of Education for the Province of Nova Scotia, in a letter to our Superintendent, under date of June 16th last, says:—"I am following with the greatest interest the splendid work done by your institution, and, I think, the provinces have the best reason to be proud of the manner in which it is administered, and its pupils the best reason for thankfulness for the thoroughness of the instruction given, and its comprehensiveness."

The Superintendent. Your Directors find it a difficult task to give adequate expression to their feeling of appreciation of the work carried on by our esteemed Superintendent, Dr. C. F. Fraser. His powers of organization, and his faithful painstaking attention to every detail of the management of the school are apparent, not only to your Board, but to all who are in any way interested in the education of the blind. We are more than ever thankful to the kind Providence who has set Dr. Fraser apart and endowed him with the special qualifications so necessary for the carrying on of the work of such an institution as the Halifax School for the Blind. His devotion and enthusiasm enable him to surmount any difficulty which he may encounter, and to successfully carry out any enterprise to which he applies his energies. Dr. Fraser's loyalty to the school, and his painstaking application to its best interests, relieve your directors from a large part of their responsibility in connection with its government, at the same time making the relation between the legislative and executive authorities very cordial and agreeable.

Drs. Lindsay, Kirkpatrick and Cogswell. The attending physician of the school, Dr. A. W. H. Lindsay, the ophthalmic surgeon, Dr. E. A. Kirkpatrick, and the dental surgeon, Dr. A. W. Cogswell, well merit the gratitude of your Board for their untiring efforts on behalf of the pupils. The work of these gentlemen is performed without remuneration, and they are ever ready to give time and attention to the pupils requiring their professional services. Too much cannot be said of Dr. Lindsay's kindly interest in the health of the pupils, which is evinced by his almost daily visits to the school and his watchful care in special cases of sickness.

Bequests. Your Board gratefully acknowledges the receipt of the following bequests:—Estate of J. Bayley Bland, Halifax, $9720.88; Estate of Miss Ann Lawson, Halifax, $1000.00; Estate of Sir Robert Boak, Halifax, $250.00; Estate of John Cronan, Halifax, $150.00; Estate of Miss Celia Black, Halifax, $100.00; Estate of E. P. Archbold, Halifax, on account, $25.00. These generous bequests, coming at a time of special financial need, are most fully appreciated by your Board. They manifest the interest that is being taken in this growing institution and in the welfare of the blind. The memory of those from whom these benefactions have been received will be kept green and fragrant so long as this institution continues to exist.

Acknowledgments. Your Board desire to express their thanks for the donations and thanksgiving offerings received throughout the year. They also tender their special thanks to the kind friends who have added to the pleasure of the pupils by inviting them to concerts and lectures given in the city, and to the ladies and gentlemen who have from time to time taken part in the entertainments given in the school.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

J. C. MACKINTOSH,

President.

INTRODUCTORY SKETCH.

The first organized effort to ameliorate the condition of the blind was made in Paris in 1260, when King Louis IX established the Hospice des Quinse Vingts for the care of soldiers suffering from ophthalmia, contracted in the Egyptian campaigns.

The first institution for the education of the blind was founded in Paris in 1784. The founder and director was the famous French philanthropist, Valentin Haüy, affectionately referred to as "The apostle to the blind." Valentin Haüy was a man of keen intelligence and broad sympathies, and realizing the possibilities of the blind he laboured unceasingly in their behalf. Haüy conceived the idea of printing in embossed letters, and through his instrumentality the facilities for educating the blind were so greatly advanced that his efforts won the approval and support of the French court. Since Haüy's time, schools for the education of the blind have been established in almost every civilized country, and the importance of the work so quietly commenced in the French capital in the latter part of the eighteenth century, has now become universally recognized.

It is estimated that two and one quarter millions of the inhabitants of the world are deprived of sight. According to the most reliable authorities, there are now living in the Dominion of Canada nearly four thousand blind persons, of whom between seven and eight hundred are under twenty-one years of age.

In the five eastern provinces of Canada, and in Newfoundland, provision has been made for the education of the youthful blind, and three hundred and eighty-nine boys and girls are now being educated and trained. Of these 135 are in attendance at the Ontario School for the Blind, situated at Brantford; 106 at the Nazareth School for the Blind, Montreal; 12 at the Mackey Institution for the Deaf, Montreal, and 136 at this institution. While the blind youth of the eastern provinces are now being educated and trained, the youthful blind scattered throughout the west territory, from Winnipeg to the coast, are debarred from all educational privileges. It is earnestly hoped that the public-spirited legislators and the people of the western provinces will realize the importance of education to the blind and will give to their boys and girls opportunities equal to those enjoyed by the blind of the older provinces.

STANDING OF THE SCHOOL.

It is satisfactory to note the change in public opinion with respect to this school. For many years the institution was regarded as an asylum for the blind, in which persons of all ages were received and cared for. It was difficult for those not familiar with the education of the blind to realize that boys and girls deprived of sight could be so trained as to become independent, self-supporting men and women. Anything accomplished by a blind person was regarded as phenomenal and little short of miraculous. This misconception as to the work of the school has gradually given way before an enlightened public opinion, and to-day the standing of the school as an educational institution is very fully recognized.

TEACHING STAFF.

The members of the teaching staff have discharged their duties with zeal and ability, and have fully recognized their individual responsibility to the pupils placed under their care.

At the close of the last school year, Miss Elma Baker, of Sheet Harbor, N. S., resigned her position as a teacher in the literary department, after having taught with success for a period of five years.

Owing to ill-health, Miss Josie Howe, of Dartmouth, N. S., reluctantly severed her connection with the school in December last.

Miss Howe entered upon her duties as a teacher in the Kindergarten department in September 1895, and for ten years she laboured faithfully for the good of the little ones placed in her charge.

The positions vacated by Miss Baker and Miss Howe have been filled by Miss McLean, of Hopewell, N. S., and Miss Lockwood, of Clementsport, N. S. These ladies are evincing a deep interest in their chosen work, and will no doubt prove themselves well qualified to perform the same.

Mr. H. B. Campbell resumed his position as principal of the musical department at the commencement of the present term, having spent the previous year in Germany perfecting his musical studies.

TRAINING.

A prominent educator of the blind, who recently visited this institution, stated that in the education of those deprived of sight the results were generally in proportion to the amount of money expended, but that the Halifax school was certainly a notable exception to this rule. This testimonial to the efficiency of the work that is being done in this institution is most gratifying and will be appreciated by the friends and supporters of the school. It is no doubt true that for the money expended by this school good results are being obtained, but it is equally true that with a larger current income special training in new lines might be given to many of the pupils and still better results accomplished.

Ten years ago, in making a register of the occupations of our graduates, it was found that a surprisingly large number of them were engaged in business pursuits. Upon investigation it became evident that many had been, or were, seriously handicapped from lack of business training. This being the case, it was decided to add a commercial course to our school curriculum and to place within reach of our pupils a training which would fit them for business callings. Owing to the lack of money and to the difficulty of securing the services of a thoroughly trained teacher, it was found impracticable to at once introduce the proposed course. In September, 1905, Mr. J. A. Macdonald, a member of the teaching staff, who had been specially trained in the Halifax Business College, took charge of our commercial classes, since which time the pupils have received a practical business training.

The work of the school shows steady progress, and while its scope is ever widening the standard of efficiency is carefully maintained. In the literary, musical and technical departments, the pupils are afforded broad educational advantages. These include a sound English education, a thorough training as teachers of vocal and instrumental music, practical instruction as pianoforte tuners, an opportunity of acquiring such handicrafts as brush and basket making and chair seating, and practical lessons in sewing, knitting, crocheting, reed and raffia work, etc. In addition to the foregoing, special training is given in scientific massage and in shampooing.

It is gratifying to report that three of the young men who recently graduated from our literary department are now undergraduates in the University of Dalhousie, having successfully passed their matriculation examinations. It is doubly gratifying to state that in these examinations two of the young men won first-class distinction, and the third, second-class distinction. These results are most creditable to the young men, and likewise to the teachers who prepared them for their college career.

HEALTH RECORD.

In May last one of our little girls developed diphtheria, but owing to the prompt and energetic measures taken by the attending physician, Dr. A. W. H. Lindsay, the child speedily recovered, and the spread of the disease was checked.

In October last Mary McDonald, a young woman belonging to Little Branch, Black River, N. B., sickened and died after a short illness. Miss McDonald was constitutionally weak and was in an anæmic condition when she entered the school.

With the foregoing exceptions, the general health of the pupils has maintained a fair average throughout the year.

The physical training of the pupils receives due attention, and care is taken to so arrange their studies as to allow ample time for recreation in the open air and for systematic exercise in the gymnasium.

GRADUATES.

From time to time encouraging reports are received from the graduates, and it is a great source of satisfaction to note from these that such a large percentage of our former pupils are self-supporting and that they are living happy, useful lives.

J. K. writes from Canso, N. S., that he has a class of twenty-four music pupils and has started a bank account.

W. H. J., of Westville, N. S., states that he is carrying on a boot and shoe business, is acting as selling-agent for a Halifax piano firm, and that his hands are filled with business.

F. N., of Glassville, N. B., refers to his training in the school and to the fact that since leaving the institution he has made many friends, and a good living.

Miss M. B., writing from St. John, N. B., says that at first she was somewhat discouraged, because there were few persons who seemed to require her services as a masseuse, but that brighter days had now come and her time was fully and profitably occupied.

W. M., of Marble Mountain, C. B., states that he is doing a good suug business, and that he has had to double the size of his shop.

J. U., of Moncton, N. B., states that he finds no trouble in securing work as piauforte tuuer, and that his busiuess is steadily increasing.

D. M., of Black Brook, C. B., writes that he makes up his brushes by the wholesale, and by selling them at retail prices is more than able to keep the wolf from the door.

At the close of the school-year, n June last, the following diplomas were awarded :—

Josie Sperry, Petite Riviere, N. S., certificate as a teacher of vocal and instrumental music.

Celestine Cormier, Moncton, N. B., certificate as a teacher of the pianoforte and cabinet organ.

Margaret McCormack, Launching, P. E. I., certificate as a competent masseuse.

Leon Duff, Hillsboro, N. B., certificate as a teacher of instrumental music.

Grover Livingston, Harcourt, N. B., certificate as a teacher of the pianoforte.

Peter White, Tusket, N. S., Thomas Fitzgerald, Bonavista, Nfld., and Daniel McLean, DeGross Marsh, P. E. I., certificates as competent pianoforte tuners.

Andrew McDonald, New Glasgow, N. S., certificate as a skilled brush-maker and chair-seater.

LIBRARY.

In 1881 a circulating library of raised print books was established in connection with this School. This library has proved a source of comfort and delight to scores of our graduates and other blind persons living in different parts of the country.

In 1898 the Postmaster General, with the sanction of the Parliament of Canada, authorized the free transmission by mail of books and pamphlets printed in raised letters. This concession has proved a boon to the reading blind, and has resulted in the enactment of similar postal regulations in Australia and the United States.

The library contains seven hundred and fifty volumes, printed in the Braille point system. Many of these books, which were purchased in London and Edinburgh, are printed from stereotype plates, while others have been written by the graduates from dictation.

The library is supported by the voluntary contributions of the friends of the school and by the proceeds of special entertainments given for the purpose of raising money to purchase new books. In another part of this report will be found a catalogue showing the names of the books in our circulating library.

PRINTING OFFICE.

The printing office of the school is kept busy throughout the year in stereotyping and printing such matter as is required for immediate use in our literary and musical departments. The outfit for this office was presented to the school by Mr. Henry M. Whitney, of Boston, in 1899, and has proved of great advantage to our work.

The following books and pamphlets have been stereotyped, and copies of these are printed as required for school use:—Commercial Arithmetic, (1 vol.); Geometry Definitions, (1 vol.); Practical Speller, (1 vol.); Topics of Canadian History, (1 vol.); Spelling Dictionary, (4 vols.); The Sight Singing of Music, (4 vols.); Selected Hymns, (3 vols.); Sudd's Studies for the Organ, (1 vol.); Kohler's Practical Method, (1 vol.); Easy pieces for the Pianoforte, in the First Grade, (1 vol.); Melodic Sketches, Second Grade, (1 vol.); Harmonic Notation, (1 vol.)

In addition to the foregoing, thousands of sheets of band, vocal and pianoforte music have been struck off, and many lesson sheets printed for the school department.

JOINT BENEVOLENT COMPANY, LIMITED.

Reference has been made in former reports to the necessity of purchasing a modern pipe organ for the school, so that our pupils might be trained as church organists. It is interesting to report that an organization known as the Joint Benevolent Company, Limited, has been formed for the express purpose of securing funds to purchase such an organ. This organization or company has a capital stock of $6000.00 divided into 600 shares of $10.00 each. One hundred and thirty-one shares of this stock have already been subscribed, and it is confidently expected that the full amount will eventually be taken up. Copies of the prospectus of the company with subscription blanks will be forwarded to any address upon application.

CONCLUSION.

The Board of Managers have my most sincere thanks for the cordial support they have extended to me in the administration of the affairs of this institution, and for their readiness at all times to promote the welfare of the blind.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

PRIZE ESSAY.

Mr. James Scrimgeour, a former member of the staff of the School for the Blind, having offered a prize of $5.00 for the best essay on the subject of "Occupations for the Blind," a number of interesting papers were submitted by the pupils, and the prize was awarded to Miss Evelyn Ellis of Digby, whose essay is here reprinted:—

"THE OCCUPATIONS OF THE BLIND."

A few weeks ago I went into my brother's study to look up a word in his encyclopaedia. While there, quite accidentally, I came upon a report of the Halifax School for the Blind. As I turned the pages I found myself wondering if any member of the Sunday School class I had formerly taught was still at the school.

Yes! Here was a familiar name, but could it be possible that Edith Putney was no longer a pupil but a teacher of one of the primary classes in the school. At first I marvelled greatly because, when we had talked of the future, Edith had always said most emphatically that she would rather do anything than teach. But then, I reflected, everybody is liable to change their ideas at some time, and why should Edith not change hers too. Yet so interested was I in the matter of her occupation that I shortly wrote her a letter in which I asked many questions, not only of her own doings, but also of the doings of the group of young blind students whom, but a few years before, I had known so well.

In prompt response came the reply:—

DEAR FRIEND—

No one can appreciate your surprise at my present situation better than myself. I can explain it, however, only by telling you that I have learned to like many of the things which I used to dislike, and, perhaps, what is better still, I have learned to do with a good grace many things which are still not wholly agreeable to me.

You want to know as nearly as possible what part each of your old pupils is playing in life, and truly I can answer that almost all of us are busy taking our various places on the big stage of the world. Marion has proved that blindness need not stand in the way of the development of such a talent as hers. She is now soloist and choir-leader in one of the larger churches in K. I think it must have been of such as her that Longfellow wrote—

“God sent his singers upon earth,
With songs of sadness and of mirth,
That they might touch the hearts of men,
And bring them back to Heaven again.”

Ernest, whom you will remember as our literary star, is the assistant editor of a popular Western magazine.

The latest report from Maurice is that he is carrying on a successful real estate business. His father and his grandfather before him were engaged in business of this kind, so I suspect that a taste for it runs in his blood. His lack of sight does not interfere in the least with his ambitions, and, strangely enough, he is continually quoted as a man of uncommon foresight.

Jessie has a large class of music pupils at her own home. Ada, who was always most skilful with her hands, does much fine fancy work for which she finds a ready sale.

Adeline does not write often. Her time is so taken up with shampooing and massage that she seems to have little opportunity for correspondence. She was fortunate in that she had not to lose time at the start in overcoming the prejudice which too often assails the blind worker. There is no doubt, it seems, that a sightless masseuse, if equally well trained, will be given the preference over the sighted one each time, for the patients naturally prefer not to be seen by the operator.

George is a travelling salesman for one of the leading piano houses in our city, and is in receipt of a good salary. He saw Harry not long ago and he tells me that H. is earning a good living by tuning. He also says that Alfred, a slow-going, quiet boy who was in your class but a short time, is managing to support himself by working at the combined trades of cane-seating, brush-making and basket-making.

Edward, the boy with the rich aunt, is still, I regret to say, looking for something easy to do, and fretting because the something is still unfound. He is, I think, for all his luxurious home and his prospect of money, the least happy of our class.

Eva is the only member of the class who has married. I learn from my sister who lives near her that she is an efficient little housewife, and from her own letters I gather that she is taking an active part in several local societies.

So on the whole we have not done too badly, have we? Do you think you would find a better showing from any class of sighted or unsighted pupils that you ever have taught? We are none of us very great, to be sure, but we seem to be doing our fair share of work, and it is a real pleasure to tell of our successes to an interested friend like you.

With all pleasant thoughts of the old days,

I am, as always, yours affectionately,

EDITH PUTNEY

APPENDIX A.

FREE CIRCULATING LIBRARY, SCHOOL FOR THE BLIND.

This Library, which is located in the School for the Blind at Halifax, N. S., was established in 1881. It contains a large number of books and pamphlets printed in the Braille Point system, and Dr. Moon's type for the aged. Since the first of November, 1898, embossed books for the blind have, by the authority of the Parliament of Canada, and by the order of the Postmaster-General, been transmitted through the mails free of charge.

The books are circulated among the graduates of the School, and among the adult blind who have been taught to read in their own homes. Each year the call for books has increased, and each year we have tried to add to the library the latest publications printed in Great Britain, as well as a number of hand-made books and pamphlets written out by the graduates of the School, and by the members of the Library League.
